

ERIE COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Join the Erie Regional Medical Reserve Corps

Local health, safety & preparedness begins with you

WHAT is the Medical Reserve Corps?

A national network of volunteers that:

- helps make communities stronger and healthier
- adds to community preparedness & resilience with activities such as CPR/AED training & assisting with community vaccination clinics
- prepares for & responds to natural disasters like floods & blizzards and public health emergencies such as disease outbreaks

WHO volunteers?

Any community member who wishes to share time & expertise, with or without medical or health care backgrounds.

Participation will depend on background, interests & skills.

Volunteers are mobilized through county & local health agencies, helping improve local emergency response & reduce potential public health risks.

WHY volunteer?

Your community benefits.

Be part of an organized & trained team with a strong sense of mission & purpose.

Offer & improve your professional skills, knowledge & expertise.

Give back to your community. Help keep your family, friends & neighbors safe & healthy.
